Greetings GoNorth! Students,

We would like to take this opportunity to thank you for being part of Team GoNorth!

Millions of students in more than 2900 schools worldwide and in every state across the United States of America participated in GoNorth! Arctic National Wildlife Refuge 2006.

What makes GoNorth! such a success is your participation, your motivation, your voice – be it as posts to the Collaboration Zones; questions, thoughts and answers in the Online Chats with topic experts (who are more than impressed with the GoNorth! students); your submissions to the Q&A's; your letters to your State Representatives and the incredible service projects and school events you have made happen in your local communities. As part of the team you have become the experts and you have taught your fellow students, families and communities.

Your knowledge and enthusiasm reach far beyond your classroom. You have been instrumental in motivating other students with your participation, politicians by showing that actions and beliefs matter, teachers to teach!, and you have motivated the entire GoNorth! team behind the scenes running the GoNorth! program. Last, but not least you motivate the explorers on the trail. You are our inspiration on the trail.

On behalf of all the team members and the Polar Huskies who were part of this year's incredible journey dog sledding through the Alaskan Arctic, we sincerely thank you for inspiring us with your open minds and your desire to explore, learn and share.

We hope you join Team GoNorth! again for GoNorth! Chutkotka 2007.

Keep Exploring!
